

Abstract

A security method and system for the detection and/or control of unauthorized vehicles among a large number of free flowing authorized vehicles within a controlled geographical zone, incorporating roadside infrastructure, electronic means in vehicles, vehicle to roadside communication, and cryptographic protection against forgery, aiding the interception of unauthorized vehicles by enforcement authorities.